

You've been there before. It's the end of term, and suddenly you've got pounds of stuff - textbooks, furniture, and the like - that are of no use to you anymore. You need to dispose of them, somehow, and wouldn't it be nice if you could salvage some value out of your old junk, you think to yourself. Then arrives the frustrating part - every time. You can't find any prospective buyers. Or imagine yourself in the opposite scenario. It's the end of term, and you know there is a plethora of people from whom you might get a great deal out of. However, you have to scour through individual social media pages as there are hardly any venues where people can collectively post things to sell!

What if there was a place where students can quickly and conveniently post items to sell, where buyers can quickly and conveniently view items to buy?

Introducing Dragon Barter!

Simply create an account, and you're ready to trade! You can post any item for sale using this site, at a price of your choosing! You can also attach a description to your items up for sale – perhaps anything you want a prospective buyer to know?

All items posted for sale will appear on a public trading board, so buyers will no longer have to look all throughout the internet to get a great deal off their fellow students!

So, what are you waiting for? Create an account on Dragon Barter, and start trading today!